

Pop-up Prom 2: Caribbean with The Sunny Steel Band

Thomas Alleyne pictured centre with Sam and Adam Ouissellat either side.

Our second Pop-Up Proms in Waterlow Park on Sunday 8 August is music with a West Indian flavour. Sunny Steel Band will be bringing authentic Calypso flavours to the park. It's a band with a strong local link. The leader, Thomas Alleyne, was a student at St. Michael's Primary School where his mother, Mrs. Sinclair, was a teacher.

Thomas started playing steel pans from the age of seven in community bands around Tottenham. But steel pans wasn't his only instrument. He learned piano with local piano teacher Anita Probert, as well as bass guitar, drums and clarinet.

He began his professional career at the age of 14 playing in other people's bands until he turned fully pro at the age of 16. He set up his own band in October 2012, Sunny Steel Band, which today has a roster of 100 professional musicians on its books.

Pop-up Proms, 3pm North Pavilion, Waterlow Park.

All free. Bring a picnic and enjoy,

www.sunnysteelband.com

<https://tinyurl.com/yd5g7gpe>

Follow @SunnySteelBand on Instagram